25% Off American Roots Music at Caramoor!

Posted on February 26, 2015 by Caramoor Center for Music and the Arts

Purchase tickets to both Dom Flemons (March 7) and Willie Watson (April 11) and receive 25% off your total purchase!

Roots Music in the Music Room at Caramoor

Saturday / March 7 / 8:00pm

Dom Flemons

Kristin Andreassen & Jefferson Hamer

A founding member of the award-winning string band the Carolina Chocolate Drops, Flemons left the group to pursue solo folksinging. He makes his first appearance at Caramoor, showcasing his dexterity on banjo, guitar, harmonica, and bones (yes, bones!) with a catalogue of material that digs deeply into ragtime, Piedmont blues, jug band, spirituals, and more. Opening for Dom are folkies Kristin Andreassen, a member of the bands Uncle Earl and Sometimes Why, and guitarist Jefferson Hamer.

Saturday / April 11 / 8:00pm

Willie Watson

Cricket Tell the Weather

A man who "sounds like he's fallen through a portal from a century ago" (The Guardian), Watson packs an authentic, old-time punch. After 11 years as a founding member of alt-country supergroup Old Crow Medicine Show, this warbling picker shifted gears; his first solo release in 2014, Folksinger Vol. 1, received high praise from critics who found comfort in his pure, raw covers of folk standards. Opening for Watson are the indie string band Cricket Tell the Weather, a returning Caramoor favorite with timeless harmonies and strong songwriting.
