Exhibition Description

Outside the Lines Consulting and Indivisible Westchester welcome artists living and/or working in Westchester County to participate in an open call to take action through art.

The goal of the exhibition is to invite artists to express their views on the current political climate of the United States, and through these works of art inspire people to be motivated to activate change. The goal of the exhibition is to ask “what are you doing? or what can you/we do?” to change and effect the current situations in America. The exhibition wants to present a realistic state of the union, and also give people hope in what we can do as individual citizens to influence and advocate for the future.

Possible themes artists can use for inspiration are, but not limited to:

Democracy

Civil Rights

Human Rights

Environmental Justice

Social Justice

Gun Violence

Immigration
