Arts Festival Event Manager Job description, Full-Time

The role of the Arts Festival Event Manager will be to manage and implement the operational needs for a 4-day summer Arts Festival to be presented in 2022 in White Plains, NY. The Festival Manager will be responsible for the management of all Festival events related to artist/arts programming, development, community outreach and communications. The Festival Event Manager will be employed by ArtsWestchester, New York’s largest non-profit arts council located in White Plains, New York.

The role of the Festival Event Manager is to:

- Plan and advise the ArtsWestchester Executive Team on the design, budget, 4-day schedule, and overall plan for the Festival’s operation.
- Advance and in some cases negotiate, the technical/operational requirements of all stakeholders being presented at or otherwise participating in the Festival, including visual and performing artists, arts events and vendors and Festival sponsors and community partners.
- Prepare a master operational plan and timeline for the delivery of services and equipment, and manage such delivery.
- Work with the Senior Deputy Director and Director of Marketing to devise and implement a system for describing each Festival event on paper, including detailed information about the design, production, staffing, suggested promotional copy and schedule thereof.
- Negotiate and implement artist agreements and vendor contracts for technical rentals, staging, backline instrumentation, and other physical elements of the Festival as may be necessary.
- Coordinate Festival activities with city departments and local agencies, securing necessary permits, licenses, and services.
- Manage the Festival’s existing relationships with these entities and other community partners, and seek ways to encourage broader cooperation and participation.
- Coordinate Festival activities with White Plains performances venues and manage the utilization of space in external venues by all Festival departments.
- Manage the logistics of food vending operations and restaurant participation in the Festival.
- In consultation with the Senior Deputy Director and Director Administration, hire and supervise production & operations staff as may be necessary for the delivery of the program.
- Assist in managing production needs for the Festival’s community projects, press and development events.
- Oversee and manage the installation, presentation, and de-installation of all Festival elements and events. Arrange for the return to owner, storage, or disposal of all goods used.
- Assist in the coordination of interns, and volunteers who will be part of the production/event team.
- Manage the operations budget so as not to exceed Festival approved amounts; prepare and manage documentation of expenditures and commitments, invoices and requests for grant reimbursements for budgeted Festival expenses.
- Establish policies for the health and safety of crew and public based on knowledge of industry standards and best practices to ensure a safe Festival environment.

Festival Event Manager Compensation: Full time: $45,000-50,000 a year; hybrid and/or remote work possible.
