Juror: Jeff Harris

Jeff Harris is an award-winning visual storyteller known for his creativity, wit and feel for light and people. Studying filmmaking at NYU, he learned the importance of narrative, story and character. He honed his craft across the photographic spectrum shooting for scores of clients, from Vogue, Vanity Fair, T Magazine, Neiman Marcus, Under Armour and Corona. His love of films, costumes and Halloween led him to his passion of creating original images for films and theater. Whether performers, directors, writers, neighbors, friends, or strangers, Jeff strives to hear their stories and translate them to the photograph.

He recently created the key art for the feature films, Terrifier 2, The Zombie Wedding, Night of Violence and The Tannery.

He lives in Greenpoint, Brooklyn with his wife, son and two cats. He commutes the entire two blocks to his studio every day.

Again this year: a 'road show' to other libraries will be scheduled after the closing of this exhibition. Dates and locations still to be determined.
